SNV USA to change name to DevWorks International

Washington, DC. (March 2, 2020) – As of February 28, SNV USA has adopted a new trade name, DevWorks International (DevWorks). SNV USA was founded as an affiliate of SNV Netherlands Development Organisation in 2011, facilitating partnerships and growth in the US market. DevWorks International will continue close collaboration with SNV Netherlands on ongoing projects and future partnerships.

Building on the history and collaboration with SNV Netherlands, DevWorks International will be pursuing a new strategy of growth in the US market and will be expanding on the work done as SNV USA. "SNV USA has grown significantly, and rebranding to DevWorks allows us to continue to expand and grow. The Board of Directors is thrilled to be going in this direction," says Nancy Bradley, Chair of the Board of Directors.

Retaining the same staff, technical knowledge, and management systems from SNV USA, DevWorks brings together a core team of solutions-oriented development professionals with expertise and experience across technical areas and geographies. Demetria Arvanitis, DevWorks' President/CEO says, "Over the last 10 years we've built a strong reputation for quality and innovative work internationally. We look forward to continuing our global partnerships and support of communities worldwide."

The DevWorks' approach is grounded in private sector engagement and improved service delivery, while building local capacity through ongoing partnerships and relationships. We provide market-based solutions across five areas: agriculture, water, sanitation and hygiene, youth, governance, and natural resource management.

The new trade name will be used immediately.
